$2 Million Rail Taxes Due to be Refunded

Rejection of Appeal By U.S. High Court Ends Long Legal Fight

Approximately $2 million in protested taxes involved in the long-embattled railroad tax cases will be refunded to 12 rail lines operating in Madison county, Burton C. Bernard, attorney who has been handling the cases for Madison county taxing agencies, said today.

Bernard said the refunds, which will set a legal precedent that may mean the loss of additional millions in untied cases in other parts of the state, will be made under a court order entered in circuit court at Edwardsville last April after the Illinois Supreme Court reversed a circuit court decision given in favor of the county.

George Musso, Madison county treasurer, told the Press-Record that his office thus far has not received such an order and will begin making no refund until such an order is sent to his office.

Bernard said that further meetings on the rail tax cases still are being held between himself, State's Atty. Joseph Bartylak and representatives of 14 Madison county school districts, which financed the latter phase of the court fight. He added that it is now definite that the refunds must be made, and the railroads are demanding payment of the escrow funds. He did not say when such payments will begin.

Rejected Hearing
The court fight ended early in May when the U.S. Supreme Court, to which Bernard had sought to appeal the Illinois Supreme Court reversal order, notified Bernard that it would accept the case on grounds that it did not have jurisdiction.

In August 1964, Circuit Judge James O. Monroe held a hearing of the case in a ruling that the protesting railroads had not been assessed on 100% of fair cash value, as the railroads claimed in more than a year of court battles, and that the county had paid taxes under protest, and the money was placed in escrow by the county treasurer's office pending outcome of the litigation.

The railroads contended that assessments for the railroads in Madison county had been based on a 100% cash value while those of other taxpayers were based on a ratio of 50 to 60% fair cash value.

The litigation covered the five-year period of 1957 to 1962. During that period, the rail lines had paid taxes under protest, and the money was placed in escrow by the county treasurer's office pending outcome of the litigation.

Appealed Decision
The railroads appealed the circuit court decision to the Illinois Supreme Court, resulting in reversal of the circuit court ruling.

Bernard has pointed out that the burden of taxes which would be that of the rail lines will be passed on to individual taxpayers, who by necessity, must make up the $2 million refund to the railroads, which represents a direct loss to the tax agencies. The tax money was budgeted, appropriated and spent, and therefore must be made up, Bernard pointed out.

GC Clean Air Board Ready for Crackdown

With the council's approval for hiring a technical secretary, Granite City Air Pollution Control Board commissioners will be ready to spring into action, it was announced following last night's meeting.

The commissioners are ready to arrange meetings with officials of firms known to be violating the city's air pollution ordinance, and notices are being sent to the firms.

Thomas Bohm, chairman, said the board's technical committee, headed by Gilbert Sykes, will need the assistance of a technical secretary in order for the city to comply with its own ordinance. Last night the board authorized preparation of a recommendation to be submitted to the mayor and council to retain the present consultant, Prof. Erwin C. Heischer of Washington University as acting technical secretary. He has inspected local industries and business places to determine compliance or violation on standards set by the city.

Complaint System
Also planned by the board is a method for individual citizens to file air pollution complaints, provided the board has a technical secretary. It is planned for work to be worked out at the Aug. 10 meeting.

Because of developments in the air pollution control field, the board decided to continue meeting and not call a summer recess. Theodore Macios, an engineer for McDonnell Aircraft Corp., was named secretary for the board, succeeding William Krause, who resigned the post for personal reasons. Krause will continue to serve on the board.

Commissioners called for full data on a report to the city by St. Louis Testing Laboratories in connection with a council ordered study of house paint stain causes.

Local Man Who Threatens Johnson Taken into Custody
A Granite City man, 36, who allegedly wrote a threatening letter to President Johnson, was taken into custody at his apartment in the 2100 block of Cleveland Blvd., and was committed to Alton State Hospital for mental examinations on Monday afternoon.

The arrest was made by Madison county and Granite City police authorities at the request of the U. S. Secret Service, who were exercising extra caution with Vice President Humphries' arrival in St. Louis for Tuesday's All-Star baseball game.

A Secret Service agent in St. Louis said that the man, a former mental patient, was being treated strictly as a mental case, and that it is against departmental policy to comment on such cases. No charges were filed.

The man threatened to use a

August Draft Could Include Married Men
The Madison county Selective Service office in Edwardsville announced Tuesday that it has been authorized to induce class "A-1" married men to enter class "A-2" with no children in order to fill its Quad-City quota for August.

Next month's induction quota is 17 men to be drafted Aug. 2, while 18 men are scheduled to be called for the Aug. 12 physical examinations. A few of the class "A-1" married men may be included in this group.

During the first six months of 1966, 119 youths have been inducted into the armed services from the Quad-City vicinity.

48 Alternate Features Considered

New Bids on Ice Rink To be Opened Tonight

After a 7 o'clock public re-bid opening this evening Granite City park district board members will review the new proposals on a list of 48 alternate features for the ice rink and recreation center.

Submitting the new figures on the alternate features will be completed by one contractor, three of the original lowest bidders. These are: Henry Ross Construction Co. and Nelson Construction Co., both from St. Louis.

Project architects, Gabriel & Dulgeroff, are hopeful that these alternate features can come in at prices to lower the construction figure to at least $409,113.

The lowest bid submitted originally was $330,000. This came from the Henry Ross firm.

This $409,113 figure would be within slightly over $34,000 of a $425,000 construction amount set aside from the $475,000 bond issue voted for the ice rink and recreation facility; $30,000 of this bond issue is for equipment and contingencies.

Per Diem Increases Delayed In County

Hike of $5 for 22 Board Members Pends Opinion By Absent State Atty.

A resolution to increase the per diem for 22 members of the Madison county board of supervisors by $5, from $15 to $20 per day, failed to reach the floor at the county board meeting Wednesday morning at Edwardsville.

Though it was prepared, the resolution was held over until the August meeting because of the absence of Joseph Bartylak, state's attorney, who requested to be on hand to present a legal opinion on the increase.

Harold Landolt, board chairman, told the Press-Record after the meeting that in his opinion the increase is legal under state statutes, and Gerald McGovern of Granite City, new assistant state's attorney, has concurred following completion of research.

Previous Resolution
The board adopted a resolution at its April 28, 1965, meeting, increasing the per diem from $15 to $20 and retaining the same mileage allowance of 10 cents, but a question was raised on whether the 22 holdover board members, whose terms expire next year, would be eligible for the increase.

McGovern said he is holding his opinion for approval by Bartylak. A $5 per diem increase from $15 to $20 was authorized for members of the zoning board of

John Moss of GC To Oppose Simon in Senate Campaign

John B. Moss, Republican of Granite City, has been certified by the Illinois Secretary of State's office as candidate for state senator in the 33rd state senatorial district on the basis of eight write-in votes received in the June 14 primary election balloting. Results of the official state canvass were announced Tuesday.

Moss will oppose veteran State Senator Paul Simon of Troy. The Republican party failed to include a candidate for state senator on the primary ballot. Moss' certification as senatorial candidate followed completion of the state canvass which revealed no significant changes from the unofficial returns.

The 33rd senatorial district includes the townships of Granite City, Venice, Chouteau, Nameoki, Edwardsville, Alton, Jarvis, Pin Oak and Godfrey in Madison county.

Moss, 71, is GOP committee man of Precinct Four in Granite City, and is engaged in the landscaping and nursery business. He has been active in veteran affairs and is a former precinct captain in Kansas City, Mo.

In 1964 Moss was a candidate for the Granite City school board. The state canvass showed that Democrats outpolled Republicans in Illinois 1,060,189 to 731,305 during the primary. The Republicans had hoped to poll 1 million votes and the Democrats expected 1,250,000 ballots.

The Quad-City area went into its sixth day of blistering over-100 degree temperatures today with seven deaths attributed to the heat.

The U. S. Weather Bureau reported its usual prediction of the next three weeks. No relief in sight. Two weeks of temperatures in the 90's preceded skyrocketing readings which began over the weekend and rose to the 106 mark Monday afternoon.

Deaths, attributed to the heat, are:

Union Electric Co. in St. Louis continued its plea for voluntary curtailment of power usage throughout its service area, but in Granite City the Illinois Power Co., which serves the Quad-City area, said it was exporting its excess electrical capacity to neighboring districts and that no immediate power shortage was anticipated here.

Set Power Records
Carl Mathias, area manager of the Illinois Power Co., said that demands for electrical power in the area have set new daily records since Monday, reaching an all-time high Wednesday of 1,297,000 kilowatts. The series of record demands started Monday afternoon when the company met a demand of 1,263,000 kilowatts, topping all previous peaks which,

Water Co. Asks Halt In Lawn Sprinkling

High Demands Overtax Facilities—Could Cause Problem With Pressure

The East St. Louis & Interrurban Water Co. issued an appeal late Wednesday afternoon for all customers to voluntarily cooperate in a conservation program during the heat wave.

Customers were asked to use water only for necessary purposes and to eliminate use of water in efforts to save parched lawns, filling swimming pools and other normal usages. Company officials said this is necessary to maintain proper pressures.

At the same time J. G. Carns, vice-president and manager of the district, announced that the extended heat wave has resulted in pumping of up to 52.6 million gallons of water per day to service the district.

He said that "in some areas pumping has increased more than 20% over peak periods of 1965."

Beyond Envisioned Demands
As a result, he said, "this is far beyond the envisioned demands for 1966 and have taxed the district's facilities in certain areas to the limit."

He said that district engineers constantly are projecting demands up to 20 years in the future to properly plan improvements, and that major projects are under way in certain sections of the district and scheduled for completion in 1966.

However, Carns noted, the high demand over the extended heat wave will necessitate a complete re-evaluation of our planned improvement program.

"Until the heat wave breaks," Carns said, "we are asking all our customers to curtail consumption as a means of lessening water pressures at normal and meeting the current emergency."

3-Year Pacts for GC School Craft, Custodial Unions
The Granite City school board Monday night approved three-year agreements with custodial and craft unions.

The agreements, covering teachers, chauffeurs and laborers. Hourly pay boosts are 20 cents the first year, 15 cents the second year and 15 cents the third year.

Pacts have now been signed with the Illinois Power Co. for the period through June 30, 1969. A three-year teacher agreement was approved in June, and a four-year cafeteria workers agreement retroactive one year also was approved this spring.

Mrs. Lindsey, a Central Junior high custodian and business agent of Building Service Employees' Local 98, praised the school system for its handling of the negotiations, noting that only two meetings were required. He and four other Local 98 executive board members met with Supt. Russell D. Johnson and Bob J. Davis, assistant to the superintendent.

"This was among the finest negotiations we've ever had," Lindsey told the Press-Record Tuesday in noting that custodians have ratified the terms. He said both sides agreed to changes from their original proposals.

Lindsey said maintenance crafts also are likely to approve the new agreements. He said his local was authorized to handle the talks by the other business agents, Jack Green of the Laborers, Eugene Ellberg of the Carpenters, Ralph Johnson of the Painters and Arthur Crouch of the Teamsters & Chauffeurs.

County Hopes to Curb Dust Problem Along Maryville Rd.

Residents along Maryville road — its full length from Pontoon road to old Route 66-40 — have been complaining to the county highway department concerning dust from the roadway which is under construction.

The project—costwise now is about 20% complete, and to afford relief from the dust nuisance, the Calhoun County Contracting Co. erected impassable barricades at the north end.

Plans also are being made to halt traffic at the south end at Pontoon road to hold down dust there until concrete paving starts.

The roadway is being widened and paved under a city-county program through use of motor fuel tax funds.

The contractor, it was learned from the county highway office, will erect heavy barricades to halt traffic on the roadway from Pontoon road past Maryville school, but at present it is being used by large trucks hauling slag and rock for the construction and other vehicles slip through.

Soaring Temperature Can Cut Circuit Court In GC Awards Six Divorces

This week's weather is even too hot for swimming — for some people anyway.

Keith Parker, pool manager at the Paddlers Swim Club on 2020 Johnson road, said yesterday that a smaller number of swimmers was using the private pool, but that temperatures are continuing to rise over the 100° mark.

"A ninety-degree temperature is perfect swimming weather," Parker said. "If it gets much hotter than this, our daytime attendance at the pool is cut down considerably. However, we do have an increased number of evening swimmers." The average has been 200 to 300, depending on the temperature.

Paddlers has had to close starting its deck area because of the extreme heat. Although the cement surrounding the pool area has been heated to a 115° temperature by the sun's rays, no sicknesses or injuries from the heat have resulted.

The Wilson Park community pool, on the other hand, has shown a daily increase of over 200 swimmers during the recent heat wave. Pool director Richard Judd mentioned that the daily total has risen from 600 to 800.

Jim Parker, head of the new Arlington swim pool, has stated that there are more children during the daytime swimming hours, but an even greater total of adults in the twilight of the evening. "After that five o'clock whistle," he said, "they just start piling in."

Housing Board Accepts Bid on Gas, Insurance

A contract to supply 351,000 gallons of propane gas for heating and cooking at apartments of the Granite City Housing Authority was awarded tentatively Tuesday night.

A-1 bid nine cents a gallon, a total of $49,500. The other bid received was 10½ cents or $57,855 from the Chapman Gas Co., East St. Louis.

The award is subject to ratification by the board of directors of the Public Housing Administration.

Also awarded tentatively, subject to regional approval, was purchase of fire and extended insurance coverage on the authority's Kirkpatrick Homes and Anchorage housing units, valued at an estimated $3,663,345.

Successful bidder was the Firemen's Mutual Insurance Co., Cleveland, O., which submitted a direct bid. It listed an initial premium of $20,514 and estimated that a dividend of $13,129 will be paid, leaving a probable net cost of $7,385 for the three-year policy.

Oval-Hass Insurance Co., Danville, utilizing Interstate Fire & Casualty, bid $13,335. Fouch Webb Agency, Wood River, using Lumbermen's Mutual & Casualty, bid $29,058, or $26,152 if there is a dividend of $2,906.

No dividends were mentioned in the bids of the Francis Agency, American Employers Insurance, $28,432; Maryland Real Estate, $28,432.

Iowa's Mel Kenyon of Davenport, driving the Fresno, Calif., owned Myron-Cove Special, is among a list of nationally prominent drivers in this Sunday's USAC 110 City Midget event at the Tri-City Speedway.

Bob Wente, 1963 USAC champion from St. Louis, is entered. He is driving the Shannon-Buick Special out of Dayton, O. But Wilson, also of St. Louis, is going

Only Mercer Stays At Home

Inter-City Teams See Tough Foes on Sunday

This area's Inter-City League faces tough competition as the season rolls again Sunday following the All-Star recess. Heart-Library Home are at Maryville, Mitchell goes to East Alton and Mercer entertains Pocatontos.

In the 2:30 game at Wilson Park, Don Crabtree's as yet unbeaten Mercer squad will face a team second only to its hosts in the matter of least games in the loss column.

The Pocatontos team has won four in a row and has quietly moved to a point in the Blue Division race behind Mercer. It has only lost three games.

Jack will have these losses early in the season. On opening day Pocatontos was trounced 2-3 by Polish-American. It lost a 4-3 squeaker to Harper May 15.

Then it was shut out on three hits June 12, who did it?—Mercer, and Bruce Thompson. Pocatontos has lost three games.

Crabtree sees no change in the cast for this one but expects his guests to be a lot tougher. Dave Jacks, a combination hurler and outfielder, was the Blue Division standout in last Sunday's classic, with two doubles.

Jack's likely to be in the outfield at Wilson Park. Moundwife, Crabtree expects Mercer will be facing another Dave. One Mr. Rommerskirchen, winner in half of Pocatontos' eight victories.

While Mercer faces one second-place squad, Ed Opich's Hearts will contend with another—Maryville, only one game behind in the Red Division.

The Red Sox, whom the Hearts haven't seen since they beat them 2-1 opening day, sport a new manager. His name is leaguer who played with, appropriately enough, the Boston Red Sox.

But regardless of the new managerial blood, there's nothing new about such players as Gerold Schmitt, hitting .412, Mick Ackerman at .391 or even Ray Perry, now clipping off a .350 average at the plate.

Maryville's July 147 pounding of Mitchell was proof enough of the team's improvement. James Knop, who won that one, will likely pitch Sunday. The game starts at 2:30 p.m.

As for Mitchell, manager Wendell Berry is considering a lineup change for its 2:30 game at East Alton. Here is another improving team, despite its cellar status.

The Hearts barely edged the team July 10 and was beaten thoroughly at East Alton last Saturday.

Attempting to round out its likely-to-be-depleted mound staff, Corey could start Mary Brokaw, its regular third baseman, Sunday.

"Lierman leaves for the service pretty soon," Corey said, "and Doug Winfield will be leaving in August."

The change would mean that regular shortstop Tony Root moves to third, centerfielder Dave Sparks replaces Root and Larry Williams fills in for Sparks.

Mercer Juniors At Gillespie in Sunday Twinbill

Clarence Henry's Mercer Juniors will be out to avenge their only defeat in an illustrious 21-1 season when they host St. Louis Ray Rixman a second time at Wilson Park today in a 6 p.m. game.

In the other game with the Buxton team on June 15, Henry's charges lost 6-1.

Otherwise, the Juniors are 10-0 in Macoupin County Khourey League action. Under the Gran City Trust & Savings Hornets banner, they're 6-0 in Wilson Park play. And they've won five non-league affairs.

On Sunday, the Juniors travel to Gillespie for a twinbill starting at 1 p.m. At least two, and no doubt more, of the Juniors will return there July 24 for the loop's All-Star game.

League officials name the classic's hurlers and catchers, while each team chooses one player and an alternate.

In other action Sunday, Carlinville is at Sorento in the only single game of the day. Alton plays two at St. Louis, Bunker Hill has a double date at Brighton and Wilsonville goes for two at Bethalto.

Softballers On Hit Spree Monday Night

It was an evening of high scores in Wilson Park softball Monday night. The Jacobmeyers pounded VFW 15-3, Tony & Joe's beat Midtown Pharmacy 24-5, Zip's bombed the Eagles 18-4 and, in a game at Coolidge, Tratter's dumped Roca 28-4.

Jim Reiter, with a homer, two doubles and a single, led the Jacobmeyers' attack. John Harrison also homered in the third win against four losses. Dick Foy and Al Edwards paced VFW, now 24-5 in 35 & Over League play.

Nick Bogovich's three-for-five, Chet Miller's three singles and a triple and Babe Amelung's single, double and triple were standouts for Tony & Joe's, now 7-4 in 35 & Over.

Ed Reinegar homered to lead Midtown's losing cause; they're 2-5 now.

Jim Stephens' homer and double topped Zip's in its victory over the Eagles, as Steve Clark and Bill Haddix hit triples. Jerry Walker had two hits and Bert Simpson hit a double for the losers.

Jim Lengyel held Roca to four hits and had six of Tratter's 30 safeties in the Coolidge game. Tratter's, now 4-2, had three other hitters with a trio of hits. Speer, Roca's record in High School League play is 1-5 now.

Press Confab on Sports Jamboree

A press conference will be held July 20 at the Rose Bowl restaurant for briefing on the annual Illinois Junior Sports Jamboree.

The Aug. 4-5 event will be held at the Granite City high school track and will involve approximately 650 boys and girls from all Illinois.

It will be under the joint sponsorship of the Illinois Youth Commission and Illinois Jaycees. This marks the first year the event has been held in Granite City.

The jamboree will culminate a summer-long track and field program which has involved about 50,000 children in 200 different areas of the state.

Locally, two girls and two boys won first places in June 25 sectional competition at Alton. They were Debra Johns, midge ball thrower, Anna Schilling, junior 75-yard dash, Jack Scarborough, junior 75-yard dash, and Tom Reynolds, intermediate 100-yard dash.

5 Teams Will Go to State

Five area slow pitch softball teams will be making a trip to the state finals of the American Softball Association state championship tournament July 30-Aug. 6. National finals this year are in Parma, Ohio, Sept. 2-6.

Automatically assured of a state berth is Polish Hall, which won the Illinois competition last year and is not involved in the regional round under way at Wilson Park.

The regionals, on again this weekend and finishing up July 24, will produce the four other teams. Buzz's and the Merchants, colliding at 7 p.m. Sunday night in winner's bracket finals, will be two of the teams.

As for who goes from loser's bracket competition, this will be determined in game 20 and 21 Saturday night. Both winners of these games will advance to Caseyville.

The three games on Sunday will determine contestants for the regional competition roundup here July 24.

Granite City-SIU Practice Teaching Program Renewed

Continuation in 1966-67 of a cooperative program in practice teaching with Southern Illinois University was voted Monday night by the Granite City school board.

Cooperating teachers who will perform direct supervision of SIU students will be selected by university officials with the approval of Supt. Russell D. Johnson. Each will be paid $75 for an academic quarter of supervisory teaching, in addition to regular salary.

For each quarter of supervision performed by a Granite City teacher, SIU tuition fees will be waived for courses pursued during the term of supervision or any one subsequent term of that academic year. Such waivers will not be accumulative beyond the end of the summer session of the academic year.

Student teachers assigned by SIU will be responsible to the local district and to teachers under whom they are placed in all matters pertaining to teaching, discipline and school policy. SIU will exercise no authority over school programs, procedures or policies but will meet occasionally with the cooperating teachers.

Teachers Hired
A Wilson school second grade teaching position was filled Monday night with the hiring of Mrs. Jean P. Davis, St. Louis, who has taught a half-year and received a bachelor degree this year from the Southeast Missouri College.

Earl A. Koller, Peoria, Bradley U. bachelor degree and three years of experience, was employed to teach Geometry at Coolidge junior high school.

Maxwell Forbes, 1704 Primrose avenue, a Granite City high school electric shop instructor, was reinstated for the 1966-67 year after completing educational requirements.

The board decided to reject a custodial job application from a man who has a heart ailment. Creation of a new administrative organizational chart was discussed and is to be acted upon later.

Employer Secretary
By a 3-1 vote, the board hired Mrs. Faye Krause, 3115 W. 12th, as a secretary in the school business office, acting on an administrative recommendation. She has worked on a temporary basis on several past occasions.

Affirmative votes were cast by President Monroe Worthen, Dr. E. W. Walton, secretary, and Board Member Warren Harris. Board Members Ronald Dillard, Carl Macios and Royce Timmons were absent. The dissenting vote was cast by George Moore sr., who noted that the selection was not based on a secretarial hiring policy adopted recently.

Mrs. Patricia Mueller, Central junior high school science teacher, was authorized to serve as an instructor in marine specimen collection, preservation and identification Sept. 6-12 at an oceanography workshop on Catalina Island off the coast of California. No expenses are to be paid by the district, and there will be no loss of pay.

Born in Ontario, Canada, Mrs. Schwarz was a member of the First Presbyterian Church, a past worthy matron of the Order of the Eastern Star 600, and a past worthy high priestess of the White Shrine of Jerusalem in East St. Louis.

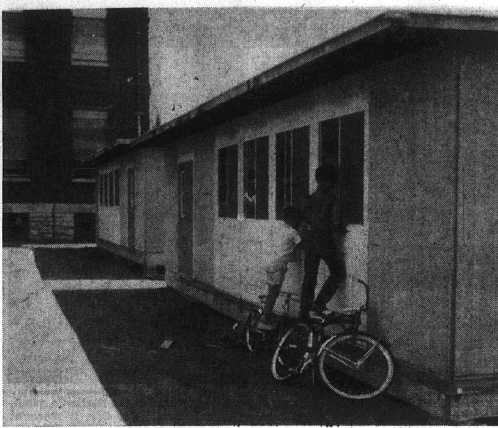

Her husband, George, who died in 1941, was a prominent contractor in Granite City for many years before his death. He helped build the former dwelling that now houses the Davis Funeral Home, and lived for several years, and also constructed sidewalks throughout the city.

Audit Reports Show Need for Improvement

Michael J. Howlett, state auditor of public accounts, announced this week the completion of a quality review of 266 audit reports submitted to his office under the Municipal Audit Law. Under the law, 1247 cities and villages are audited periodically by professional accountants, and the audit reports are made public and summarized by the State Auditor.

Howlett credited the Illinois Society of Certified Public Accountants for the quality review. Glenn Ingram, president of the society, recruited 28 member CPAs, who spent two days reviewing the reports selected for the test. Ingram said the society's report to Howlett indicated a need for improved governmental auditing and reporting by CPAs and a need for increased public understanding of the purpose of municipal audits.

"Some municipal officers regard the annual audit as a necessary evil for which they want to pay the lowest possible fee," said Howlett. "This, in addition to inadequate municipal records, has results in a few unsatisfactory audits. Thus, we hope this quality review will help us to encourage higher standards in Illinois municipalities as a whole."

The action was taken in a meeting of the board at the Rose Bowl restaurant, Granite City.

The resolution urged Chambers of Commerce, civic and labor organizations throughout the area to support the museum program.

The board also approved the nominating committee's slate of 14 board candidates, one to be elected from each of seven areas. These include:

Mrs. Kelley Joins SIU Team in South Vietnam

Mrs. Betty Jo Kelley, instructor in the Education Division at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern Campus, has joined the SIU contract team to help train South Vietnamese as elementary teachers.

Mrs. Kelley arrived in Saigon July 4 for a two-year assignment as an educational advisor in the elementary training program. To acquaint her with the Vietnamese language, special tapes were obtained from Washington, D. C., through SIU-SW Campus, one of the first educational institutions to use these tapes.

SIU's elementary teacher training program and a vocational training program have been in operation in Vietnam since 1961. The operation has been conducted by SIU under a contract with the federal Agency for International Development.

Mrs. Kelley has been with the University for nine years. She received both her bachelor's degree in elementary education and her master's in kindergarten and primary education from the University. She has also worked toward her doctorate at SIU and Washington University.

GC Tax Payments Total $1,491,300

With 37 days remaining for payment of the Granite City township taxes for 1965, collector E. R. "Pat" Rich has today reported a collection of $1,491,300 to date. This is about 23% of the total tax bill of $6,436,026.

Alcoholism Authority Speaks at Rotary Club

The Rev. Russell Murphy, executive director of the Greater St. Louis Council on Alcoholism, was guest speaker Tuesday at the Granite City Rotary Club's weekly meeting.

Rev. Murphy, who is also chairman of the Department of Alcohol Education, attended a summer institute on alcohol studies at Rutgers University in 1962.

He said that alcoholism is "a disease more than many persons realize," and that there are 75,000 chronic cases in the two-state metropolitan area.

He added that although alcoholism is now being treated from a scientific viewpoint rather than as a criminal act, "the problem of rehabilitation is a grave one because the alcoholic cannot help himself."

One out of 14 persons, he noted, ultimately becomes an alcoholic.

The program chairman was Albert Froemming.

A moment of silence was held at the conclusion of the meeting for William Huxel, a charter member of the Rotary who died unexpectedly of a heart ailment on Saturday afternoon.

Dale Herrin, president of the Illinois Association, will make the opening address.

during the fiscal year ending April 30, 1966.

The Madison library had 2894 borrowers and 28 adult non-registered borrowers, with 18,535 volumes on hand, 926 added during the year and 25 removed. Total operating revenue received was $13,358. Mrs. Blanche Ravella is librarian.

The council approved transfer of $50,000 from the bridge fund to the general fund for general corporate purposes to pay for property next to the city hall purchased at the previous meeting.

Police Chief Emmet Pazia was granted a leave to attend the annual meeting of the Illinois Association of Chiefs of Police July 24-26, with expenses not to exceed $100.

Letters were read from Granite City Mayor Donald Parney and Robert A. Garesche of St. Louis congratulating the city on its diamond jubilee celebration and pageant.

A special meeting was set for 8 p.m. Monday to adopt the budget and appropriation ordinance for the 1966-67 year.

Glenview & South Venice $2 1/2 Million May Be Reinvested for Higher Interest

A surplus of $2 1/2 million in Chain of Rocks Bridge funds may be reinvested to obtain a higher interest rate by the city of Madison, the city council was told Tuesday night.

The city currently is receiving 4% interest on 12-month deposits from three Quad-City banks, while St. Louis banks are offering 4 1/2% on security deposits and Chicago banks are considering offering the state 5 1/2% on state fund deposits. Mayor Stephen Maeras reported.

He has asked the city legal department to determine the legality of an Illinois municipality investing its funds in financial institutions of another state.

Letters to Banks

The mayor wrote letters to several banks to determine the best interest rates available, and received quotations of 3 1/2% on five-year deposits and 4% on 12-month deposits from the First National Bank in Madison, First City City National Bank and Granite City Trust & Savings Bank, which now have city funds on deposit.

Several airmen, especially Ray Kozielek of the Third Ward, maintained that extra interest income would benefit taxpayers regardless of the depositor, and that removing the funds from local banks would have little or no effect on the local economy.

Bridge Toll Question

Continued tolls on the Chain of Rocks bridge will be discussed at a meeting with Col. James B. Meador Jr., district engineer of the St. Louis district, Army Corps of Engineers, at 2 p.m. Monday in St. Louis.

Missouri's highway department has demanded that the toll be dropped immediately until the nearby Interstate 270 free bridge is open. It appeared to the U. S. Justice Department, which turned the request over to the Engineer Corps.

Maeras said Col. Meador called the meeting to determine if a full investigation is justified. Representing Madison will be mayor, John Gitchoff of the legal department and the bridge engineer.

The mayor maintained that the question of tolls is "moot," since they probably will be dropped or reduced after the new free bridge opens about Sept. 1.

Modify Operation

He asked the city may try to modify its bridge operation for a year to produce an annual maximum legal income of $175,000.

He added, however, that if a 10-cent toll is set, about half of the current bridge traffic volume would be required to reach the maximum income. He indicated this is unlikely.

"But if you do not reduce the tolls to 10 cents, what inducement do you offer the motorists?" he asked.

The law does not require a reduction of tolls but a reduction of revenue, Maeras said.

The mayor asserted that Missouri highway department officials were "passing the buck" with their demands, in order to keep the heat off of themselves because of long delays on completion of the Interstate 270 bridge.

"We have been accused of offering to pay the contractor $500 a day to delay the opening of the Interstate 270 bridge" until 1970," the mayor scoffed.

"But we will live up to the laws," he said, pointing out that "we are governed by an act of Congress and the revenue bond act of Illinois concerning tolls."

The annual public library report read at the meeting showed a circulation of 49,268 volumes

Medicare Plan Provides Three Kinds of Benefits

(This is the seventh in a series of articles by Ralph Brasher, social security district manager in East St. Louis, on how Medicare works.)

The voluntary medical insurance plan of the Medicare program helps pay for three kinds of benefits: (1) doctors' services, (2) home health care, (3) other medical services and supplies.

When you enrolled for the medical insurance program, and agreed to pay $3 a month for the protection, you signed up for insurance that will help you pay your doctor bills, and also bills for a variety of other medical services.

But to understand what your insurance does and how it works, you will need to know what certain terms mean, because you'll be seeing them in connection with Medicare.

(If you have been unable to clip and save earlier columns in this series, you might wish to clip and save this one until you receive the Handbook.)

$50 Deductible This means that your medical insurance will not pay anything for the first $50 of covered expenses each year.

80 Percent This means that as soon as your medical expenses go over $50 each year, your medical insurance will pay 80% of the reasonable charges for all additional covered services for the rest of the year.

Reasonable Charge This means that your medical insurance payments will be based on the amounts ordinarily charged by those who furnish services, and on the standard charges for similar medical services in your area, as determined by the insurance carrier.

Request for Payment Form This is the form used for claiming medical insurance benefits. For your first claim you may wish to use the forms you will receive with your Medicare Handbook.

Putting the terms together, you will see that your medical insurance will pay 80% of your expenses for covered services each year, after you meet the $50 deductible. Your medical insurance payments will be based on reasonable charges, and the request for payment form should be used to claim benefits.

Attorney General Rules State Must Pay Trial Cost

Illinois Attorney General William Clark ruled Tuesday that the state of Illinois eventually will pay the costs of the murder trial of John Stamps of Granite City, and three other Menard penitentiary convicts, charged with slaying three prison guards in a riot last Nov. 23.

The trial is being heard in Springfield on a change of venue from Chester in Randolph county. Clark held that Sangamon county, where the trial is being conducted, will be required to pay the costs originally. Randolph county then will reimburse Sangamon county, and the state will reimburse Randolph county.

The ruling was among a series of opinions handed down by Attorney General Clark in response to requests from county and state officials.

In another opinion the attorney general held that a licensee under the Consumer Installment Loan Act is not authorized to contract for or receive the charges authorized by the Act on any loan which will be used to pay off a preexisting "contract for deed," a "bond for deed," or "articles of agreement for a warranty deed," and take as collateral a mortgage or trust deed on the real estate.

Vacation Requires Survey

A detailed survey with firm ties is required when there is a vacation or alteration of a county, township or district road, according to a ruling by State's Attorney Vernon E. Elder of Moultrie county. In seeking the opinion, Elder told the attorney general that construction of the Shelbyville reservoir in Moultrie and Shelby counties by the federal government will require that a number of county and township roads in both counties be legally vacated or subordinated to project requirements by easements.

In still another opinion, Clark held that the Illinois Department of Public Aid has authority to make grants to church oriented organizations or groups to finance projects under provisions of the Services for Older People Act, provided that the religious instruction or worship is incidental to the main purpose of the project.

The attorney general also ruled, in response to an inquiry by John W. Moore, executive director of the School Building Commission, that the school code does not require a school district applying for aid from the School Building Commission to reduce its bonding power to less than $500 prior to filing the application.

Attorney General Clark also expressed himself in favor of the plan of the State Department of Public Aid to have Aid to Dependent Children applicants or recipients move to another community to accept employment, but held that the department cannot legally force them to do so.

He holds three degrees, including a doctorate, from St. Louis University.

SIU-SW Named Testing Center for MAT

The Counseling and Testing Center at Southern Illinois University-Southern Campus has been approved as a controlled testing center for the Miller Analogies Test.

In making the announcement Tuesday, Mrs. Jane Loper, assistant coordinator of the Counseling and Testing Center, said results of the MAT are in widespread use for the selection of graduate students in universities and of high-level personnel in business and government.

The Miller Analogies Test may be taken at any time by making an appointment with the center by telephone (682-2100). A five dollar fee is payable at the Bureau's office. It is suggested that those being examined bring with them the names and addresses of as many as three persons to whom they wish their results forwarded.

Hardsurface Runways for New Fostaire Airfield

The new Fostaire Field on which nine small aircraft already are based will have hardsurface ramps, taxi areas and a landing strip within six to eight months, according to the developer, Thomas Foster of St. Louis county, operator of Fostaire Aviation, Ltd.

Foster said the quick opening last Friday was to accommodate plane owners who were moving their craft from Lakeside Airfield, which reportedly is being closed. The new field is east of St. Louis and immediately south of Interstate Route 270.

"We have nine planes now, and will soon have the planes for 20. I expect there will be 200 planes on the 130-acre field in five years," Foster said.

Foster has no plans at present for his originally proposed development of a motel and restaurant, but he does plan to proceed with an industrial park on the acreage.

"I hope that soon the county board will see the need for an airport in the development of an airfield and that Fostaire Field will become the Madison County Airport," Foster said.

Douglas Proposes Drug Heat is Keeping Firemen Busy

Senator Paul H. Douglas (D., Ill.) today introduced legislation that would permit those taking part in Medicare to apply the cost of prescription drugs to satisfy the $50 deductible provision in Medicare's supplementary medical program.

At the present time, those covered by this supplementary plan are entitled to Medicare benefits only after they have paid the first $50 in medical expenses out of their own pocket. Under the Douglas bill, the cost of prescription drugs could be applied to meet the deductible provision.

One stipulation of the Douglas bill is that this drug allowance will be permitted only for the cost of the drugs under their generic name rather than their trade names. It has been proved that drugs prescribed and dispensed by their generic name are more widely used of the generic names are infinitely cheaper than the identical drugs sold by private brand names.

In addition to the benefit to the aged from the Douglas amendment, the generic name provision would encourage the more widespread use of the generic names, thereby reducing the cost of drugs to the aged and to the government.

Venice Phase of SIU-SW Center Drive to Begin

George T. Wilkins, general chairman of the SIU-SW religious center financial drive, conferred Tuesday noon with Granite City drive leaders. Wednesday morning with Venice chairmen and Wednesday noon with Madison Rotarians, who are conducting the drive solicitation in their city.

An initial Venice drive report meeting was set for Aug. 5, and plans were made for continued efforts in Madison and Granite City, Wilkins said.

Only a small fraction of Quad-City goals have been reached, and the overall campaign is at the 70% mark. Many denominations are to occupy counseling offices in the center, construction of which depends on the current three-year financing program.

Relationships between St. Elizabeth Hospital, operated by the Sisters of Divine Providence, and the Mother House at Normandy, Mo., was outlined Monday afternoon by Magr. J. L. Gatten, diocesan director of hospitals.

Magr. Gatten spoke here at a luncheon meeting at the hospital cafeteria for members of the hospital's lay advisory board.

He pointed out the Mother House contributes regularly to the hospital for an indigent fund, and that while the hospital is indebted to the Mother House in the amount of $200,000, the debt could be wiped out should the hospital need funds for major projects.

Also, he added, the Mother House pays regular patient costs for any Nun hospitalized here.

put. Illinois Power Co. operates generating stations at Havana, Hennepin, Wood River and near Danville. Power company officials said today that in spite of the new record demands for power in this area, "there were no major interruptions in service and no curtailment of electrical supplies is contemplated."

In a statement Wednesday, the Illinois Power Co. said, "There is a critical power shortage in the entire Midwest. This shortage is a result of delay in bringing new generating stations into service and delay in completing transmission lines in neighboring systems."

"The delays are caused by the shortage of materials and the shortage of labor in the electrical construction trades. The extreme hot weather, extending from the Rocky Mountains to the east coast, is overtaxing the existing facilities."

"Illinois Power is sending its excess capacity to its neighboring utilities to help them in this emergency. Barring an unforeseen emergency in our system, it is hoped that Illinois Power will be able to maintain service to its customers. However, if an unforeseen emergency occurs, it may be necessary to interrupt certain customers temporarily."

Power Cut Off in Other Areas
While Quad-City residents have not yet been affected by the power shortage, neighboring areas were not so lucky. In the St. Louis-East St. Louis area, served by Union Electric, an estimated 350,000 persons were without power at one time or another Monday and Tuesday, and an emergency status still prevailed today. Cutoffs were for the two-hour periods, but there were reports of outages up to 13 hours in a few instances.

Service Men Rushed
The same situation prevails with firms servicing air conditioning units, particularly window models. One service firm which reported it was working four men on trucks said that "if you called us today for repair on your air conditioner, we couldn't get around to it until at least a week from tomorrow."

The searing heat wave, however, was creating problems. Quad-City dealers in air conditioners and electric fans reported they were swamped with calls for these appliances and that their stocks were depleted at the first surge of temperatures over the 100-degree mark.

Temperatures in the Quad-Cities hit 101 Saturday, 104 on Sunday, 106 on Monday, 106 on Tuesday and 108 Wednesday. Area dealers in air conditioning units said they sold out their complete stocks Monday and that replacement units obtained from wholesale sources "went out as fast as we brought them in."

A check of hardware stores indicated only two electric fans available in one store, and these were the last of a new construction trades. The extreme hot weather, extending from the Rocky Mountains to the east coast, is overtaxing the existing facilities.

quantity of moisture too slight to be measured. Traces also were recorded July 1 and 10. A few scattered showers were reported in the area last night.

At St. Louis, Union Electric officials said that just a 5-degree drop in the temperature anywhere in the six-state area served by a network of utilities, of which Union Electric is one, would alleviate the situation.

"It's hard to believe, but that's how sensitive our system is," a spokesman said. "Even cloud cover or haze would help."

rifle or a .38 caliber revolver against anyone trying to arrest him, the sheriff's office said, and while he was being taken into custody, he made a move toward a nearby garment in his apartment which contained a loaded .38 caliber revolver. He was stopped by Deputy Sheriff Stanley Wojcik.

Authorities later found a loaded 30-30 rifle in the apartment. Before the arrest, a petition for a mental examination was prepared and a court order for mental examination was issued by Magistrate Joseph Kelleher at Edwardsville.

As the man had made previous threats, caution was used in the apprehension and plans were made to catch him off guard. Deputies persuaded him to submit peacefully.

The Sheriff's Service declined to comment on the contents of the letter to the President.

Nameoki Wins Olympic Championship Third Time

Nameoki school won its third consecutive championship trophy last night at the fourth annual Wilson Park Summer Olympics. The games, sponsored by the Granite City park district, included youngsters from nine playground centers.

Mrs. Helen Bjorkman, supervisor, said after the event that "these Olympic games are music-rooming every year. We had over 300 contestants and over 500 spectators." Drops of rain didn't halt the throng, as all pre-game ceremonies went ahead according to schedule.

Since Nameoki has won the traveling trophy for three successive years, the trophy was has found a permanent home in that school's trophy case. The winners scored 89 points, followed by second-place Webster (74) and third-place Wilson school (61).

Marshall was fourth with 50 1/2 points; fifth, Niedringhaus (49 1/2); tied for sixth, McKinley, Salvation Army and Community Center (39); and last Logan (31).

Heading the Nameoki delegation were playground leader Marsha Phipps, a sophomore in college, and recreation aides, Janice Veizer and Linda Harris, both high school graduates. This is the first summer program in which these three have participated.

Call Goes Out for Jamboree Officials

Granite City school athletic director Dick Yates has issued an appeal for assistants, both men and women, to help officiate in the upcoming Illinois Junior Sports Jamboree here Aug. 4-8.

Approximately 650 boys and girls from 200 different communities of the state will converge on Granite City for the event. Coaches and physical education teachers wishing to volunteer their assistance should contact Yates at WE 1-1783.

Don't fight your problems — work to find a solution.

Spoilers Could Force Playoff

Lebanon The Spoilers In Dropping Post 113

Lebanon Post 283 players may be the spoilers in the 22nd District American Legion South Division battle. They knocked off Post 113 6-4 last night at Wilson Park, leaving Bill Turpenoff's team with a final 12-4 record.

Tonight, Lebanon invades Edwardsville, which has two games left and leads Turpenoff's team with a 11-3 mark. If Lebanon stays the spoiler, a playoff could be forced between Edwardsville and Post 113.

The remaining Edwardsville game at Dupo tomorrow night will be crucial if Lebanon loses tonight. Even at 12-3, Ray Lynn's Post 190s would still be forced into a South Division playoff with Post 113 if they lost to Duke.

If Edwardsville wins both its remaining games, it's all over.

FISHERMAN'S GUIDE

A blast-furnace heat wave of such stifling intensity as to intimidate even mad dogs and Englishmen has had a predictable effect on fishermen. They've kissed off daytime angling almost altogether, with the result that reports are difficult to come by.

The only species that seems to be at least moderately active is channel catfish and in several locations channels are hitting well.

Paul Miller and friends of Carbondale have been jugging Crab Orchard with good success, taking channels up to 12 pounds. Cairo area river fishermen report some above-average harvests, using skipjack live bait and hot dogs as enticements.

The log at Devil's Kitchen, where the July 11 reading went to 104, showed no entries of any size. Most fishermen were simply subdued by the heat.

Hazel and Oliver Rosier, Columbia, caught 25 one-half to one-pound crappie at Little Grassy and L. Shelton, St. Charles, showed up with 30 in the same range. Some creditable bluegill catches were checked Post 113 0 2 1 0 0 0 1 4 7 2 but the bass tally has been all-Batteries — Norman and Berry; most, in fact. Scores of large carp have been observed working Little Grassy.

Liberty Home in Tavern Loop Win

John Measki's four-for-four plate performance, including a home run, led Liberty Home to an 18-3 win over Keith's Lounge in Tri-City Tavern League action at Lee Park last night.

Ray Jones was three-for-five in the inning, retired Lebanon. Post 113 showed some life in the seventh. With two out, Colton and Greg Patton singled and Larry Ripka's base hit scored Collins. Ripka stole second. But with the tying runs on second and third, Larry Johnson's long fly ball to right field ended the game.

Stamps Stabbed Him in Back, Riot Guard Says

Special from Springfield
A Menard prison guard, Capt. Paul Simpson, told a circuit court jury in Springfield Tuesday that he was stabbed in the back by John W. Stamps, 26, of Granite City, and that he saw Stamps "abuse a shiv" into another guard who, with two others, were slain in a riot at the prison on Nov. 23.

Simpson said he was stabbed as he went to the aid of Lt. Arthur Klatro. "I saw Stamps thrust a shiv, a homemade knife, in him (Klatro) and saw him bring it out," Simpson testified.

At the request of Richard Shaikewitz, Greve County attorney for Stamps, Simpson re-examined the incident upon cross examination. Shaikewitz asked

State Summons 7 from Area for Air Pollution Conferences on Friday

Violators of the Air Pollution Control Board's regulations on open burning of refuse will meet in Springfield Friday for an informal conference with the Illinois Air Pollution Control Board staff.

Among those named were Fred Biggs of Biggs Auto Parts, Ponton Beach; Emmett Mosby, 215 Terry street, Madison; Selden Collins, 203 Allen street, Madison; Wiley Scott of St. Louis for open burning in Nameoki township; Bill Paul of P. T. Auto Salvage, Rural Route, Granite City; Steve Baroff of "B" Auto parts, Highway 67, and Jerry Davis, manager, West Side Auto Salvage, Granite City.

The conference was called by Clarence W. Klassen, technical secretary of the board, to allow the 18 violators to show cause why they should not be referred to the board for public hearings and enforcement actions.

Simpson if he had "looked Stamps in the eye."

"No," Simpson replied, "I was busy watching that shiv."

Heat Delays Trial

Simpson was also to testify again Wednesday, but further testimony was discontinued and the hearing postponed when the air conditioning unit in Judge Creel Douglas' court broke down.

Before the recess, Simpson told the jury that in 1961 he took a knife away from Stamps after Stamps had been in the prison a short time. He said that on the afternoon of the riot, an inmate whom he did not name, warned him of possible trouble in the dining room. The guard said he passed the information on to prison authorities, but apparently no interest was shown in the report.

The trial was not resumed this morning. The recess will continue until repairs are made on the air conditioning equipment.

Open Occupancy Rule by Governor On Way to Court

(Special from Springfield)
Two Springfield real estate brokers announced today they will file petition for an injunction in circuit court Monday, seeking to restrain Gov. Otto Kerner from enforcement of an executive order filed yesterday that, in effect, establishes an open occupancy law.

Under Gov. Kerner's order, the state's Department of Registration and Education, through its real estate examining committee, is directed to revoke or suspend the license of any real estate broker who lists for sale homes or property that the owner does not want sold to minority groups. It also provides the same penalty for failure of a licensed broker to accept property for listing offered by a minority group. Gov. Kerner filed the directive yesterday afternoon following a 45-minute conference with an angry group of representatives of the Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards in which Robert Steger, president of the association, charged the governor with arbitrary action that will seriously damage the real estate industry in Illinois.

Steger also said the order will further inhibit the commerce in homes and mislead — and ultimately injure — the minorities in Illinois, especially the Negro community.

Ralph Morris, president of the Granite City Real Estate Exchange, said he is reserving comment until he can study details of the order and its potential.

The state real estate association cannot rule the court challenge because it is not a licensed body. Instead, the injunction proceedings will be instituted by James Chapman and Carl Harris, licensed Springfield brokers.

A really cool spot is the locks at the Chain of Rocks park, where there always seems to be a cool breeze off the river and canal.

Fuse-blowing problems virtually put the city hall in Granite City in darkness yesterday as city employees switched off all lights rather than turn off air-conditioning units.

ever it is possible and practicable, fringe benefits shall be the same for all employees' of the school district.

The custodial and craft unions decided against participation in group hospital insurance at this time, instead taking an approximately equivalent amount as part of the wage boosts.

Wording of each agreement varies slightly but the terms generally are the same for all employee groups of the district, Johnson told the board members, who had reviewed copies during the past two weeks.

Man's Effects on Fish

Losses in numbers and species of fish and a drastic decline in waterfowl populations are among the harmful effects of man's activities on the fish and wildlife of the Illinois River during the last three-quarters of a century. A new publication of the Illinois Natural History Survey summarizes the problem.

Survey scientists started studying the Illinois River prior to the beginning of the century. Commenting on findings of the studies, Dr. Harlow B. Mills, survey chief, said that pollution from human and industrial wastes and siltation from soil erosion have been among the main detrimental influences on the river.

Single copies of the new publication, "Man's Effect on the Fish and Wildlife of the Illinois River," Biological Notes No. 57, may be obtained from the Illinois Natural History Survey, Natural Resources Building, Urbana.

Spray Iris Borer Now

Iris plants and the exposed rhizomes should be thoroughly sprayed at this time of the year. The adult moths of the iris borer appear in August and September and deposit their eggs in clusters on the old iris leaves and on debris about the plants.

In the spring, when the plants are about one-half foot in height, the eggs hatch, and the small caterpillars bore the leaves a short distance above the ground. After feeding in the leaves for awhile, they gradually work their way down into the rhizome.

The young hatching larvae can be controlled by spraying the iris beds with four teaspoons dimethoate (Cygon) 25% emulsifiable concentrate per gallon of water, or with one part of 47% Thimet diluted in 300 parts of water.

State Taxing Revision Unlikely to be approved

Amendment of the Revenue Code which would permit assessing class-action suits on the basis of the 1870 Illinois Constitution of property in Cook County is unlikely to be approved by the legislature, according to a source familiar with the situation. The source said that the bill, which was introduced in the House in November, has not been taken up for consideration. He said that the bill is "a higher rate" than the current law, and that it is "a higher rate" than the current law.

Locked Autos Could Thwart Most Local Theft Attempts

One of the most frequent crimes reported to police in this city is the theft of automobiles. It is estimated that numerous other cases go unreported. Many autos are said to be taken for "joy rides" and then returned to the same location, with the owners unaware of the gasoline usage and the wear and tear on their vehicles.

Careless motorists who leave their cars unlocked, often with the key in the ignition switch, not only put their own vehicles in jeopardy but also place temptation in the path of youngsters, who are well aware of the convenience and glamor of sleek, powerful autos.

Such thefts can lead to injury or death, or can be the first step leading youths down the path of lawless conduct. For many reasons, Quad-City drivers ought to make it as difficult as possible to steal their cars. Authorities are convinced that such precautions could cut the number of auto thefts to a small fraction of the present high rate.

No Need at This Time for Regional United Fund Plan

There may come a time when a regional United Fund approach would offer more advantages than disadvantages. But there seems to be no such time at present for the Quad-Cities to seek to be swallowed up within such an elephantine fund solicitation and distribution program.

A local UF campaign has consistently reached its financial goal in recent years, permitting justified expansion of locally-guided community service projects. Even so, the Quad-City United Fund was not enjoying regular success, loss of autonomy through affiliation with a joint Missouri-Illinois fund might be a deterrent rather than a stimulus to public support.

One of the principal assets of the United Fund here is that it is "close to home," geared specifically to meet local needs and responsive to the wishes of those who finance it.

Those who would have us join year to put the UF drive over the top are indicating by such dedication their high regard for deep faith in the Quad-Cities. The dividend—an outstanding place in which to live and work—is well worth their effort.

'Beating the Heat' in Big Cities

The Quad-City area is a growing, thriving community but obviously does not qualify as yet as a metropolis—it was able to maintain "business as usual" during the heat wave.

New York City has been uncomfortable for several years, with air-conditioners shut off periodically to conserve water. It also was among the cities that had to shut out, as the biggest and longest power failure a few months ago.

St. Louis has now won its spurs as a major urban center, with both electricity and water short-cuts linked to the metropolitan area. Reminiscent of the problems in New York, cooling has been curtailed, elevators halted and other services disrupted in recent days.

It is tempting to invite those suffering such inconvenience to move to the Quad-Cities, where everything is still in working order (as this was being written, at least). But maybe we had better wait until enough time has passed to accept such an invitation, we would become a metropolis, too.

Costs Rising Sharply

The costs of local governments also are rising steeply. Direct expenditures for all municipalities, counties, townships and special districts rose $20 billion in 1965, or 12.4 percent, according to the CED statement, they are likely to double again by 1972.

The statement points out that since 1952 to fiscal 1964 federal aid to local units quadrupled. Federal aid to the states also nearly quadrupled, permitting them to turn to localities for state aid to localities.

State aid to local units have increased sharply, exceeding state receipts from the federal treasury, but the net difference has grown quite slowly in recent years.

Federal aid to states and local units combined will increase again, by 30%, from fiscal 1964 to fiscal 1967. There is no visible prospect of significant future deviation from established trends.

Local leadership in dealing with national problems at local levels has been beneficial in many fields, the statement says. But it is time for citizens of the 50 states "to take stock of their systems of local government in relation to urgent present and prospective needs. This involves more than an assessment of current performance."

It demands a judgment of future capabilities in planning and executing activities essential to the nation's economic development. As we approach the 21st century, weaknesses in 19th and 20th century government development—or if local government is to survive as a vital force.

Too Many Governing Bodies The statement shows that many reasons local governments "have often seemed to lack the vision and dedication—as well as the financial resources—to diagnose and solve the problems of the nation and make vigorous responses. New functions needed to meet new situations are neglected by the local units and governmental patterns in smaller urban communities are equally unresponsive to local needs."

After tracing the history of local government units from 18th century England towns to the present day's huge urban complexities, the statement calls for "the development of an effective system of general purpose government at the local level."

By default, initiatives have commonly been left to more resourceful federal forces. Local government units have been left to cope with new issues, many of which are not local government problems but national resistance to change of any kind.

The program offered in the CED statement is nationwide in scope and applies to both rural and urban communities. The guidelines presented define the "blueprint for a state of the art" for local government.

The Diplomatic Pouch

WASHINGTON, D.C. The following letters have been forwarded by the Department of State:

I wish to know the exact price of building the Panama Canal. Please rush. A. B. R. Boston, Mass.

Dear A.: The construction of the Canal cost $386,650,000, according to the Report on United States Relations with Panama issued by the Subcommittee on Inter-American Affairs of the committee on Foreign Affairs, 86th Congress, second session (Washington, 1960).

The Department of State has no figures of its own to offer, since construction of the canal was the responsibility of other agencies of the United States government.

Will the military and economic aid that the United States is now giving South Vietnam be repayable to this country? A. M. R. Mattituck, N. Y.

Dear Mr. R.: Because of the heavy demands the wartime situation places upon the resources of the Vietnamese economy, the majority of current aid to Vietnam does not require repayment in the mutual sense.

Just as in the case of Korea during and immediately following the conflict there, the difficulties of fighting the Communist insurgents have so reduced the Vietnamese earnings of dollars and other foreign exchange earning potential that we could give them almost no help if we expected repayment in dollars.

Once reconstruction is well underway at the end of hostilities, we expect that the Vietnamese will also develop a capacity to begin paying for aid in foreign exchange on a loan basis just as the Koreans are now doing.

However, the Vietnamese do in one way make payment for a great majority of our aid.

For example, aid commodities sent to Vietnam under the U. S. Commercial Import Program are paid for by the Vietnamese private industry in local currency, and these local currency amounts are deposited to the account of the U. S. Government. This Vietnamese currency is then turned over to the Government of Vietnam to be used in support of programs mutually agreed upon by the U. S. and Vietnamese Governments.

The majority of the U. S. surplus agricultural products exported to Vietnam under the Food for Peace program are similarly paid for in local currency.

Together these two programs represent about 70% of our total non-military assistance to Vietnam.

Moreover, to establish the principle of aid repayment, certain aid has been given on a loan basis, carrying interest at higher rates if repaid in local currency than if repaid in dollars.

These U. S. loans since the mid-1950s total approximately $1.5 billion, and are used for development projects as the Vietnamese railroad, improvement of municipal water supply, and modernization of the electric power and tele-communications system.

TODAY'S INVESTOR

BY THOMAS S. O'HARA
Chairman, Board of Trustees
National Association of Investment Clubs

AVOID 'FRONT LOAD' FUND INVESTMENTS

Q. My father is 56, in good health, but limited earnings and possible retirement income. Would you advise a small mutual fund investment to supplement his income?

A. A small, regular investment in a good mutual fund should be a good hedge against inflation for your father when he is faced with retirement. Be careful, however, that he does not get into one of the so-called "front load" funds where his money for the first year or two will go largely to pay the sales commission rather than being invested productively for him.

Your broker can point out funds available on a profit to your particular class of policy. There is no guarantee that any of these two things will happen.

Have you got a problem about investing? Mr. O'Hara, editor of the monthly magazine, "Better Investing," and one of the nation's recognized authorities will be glad to answer it. Write to T. E. O'Hara, National Association of Investment Clubs, Department S, Box 1065, Detroit, Mich. 48231, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Law Serves You

Deed May Decide Who Gets House

(A public service of the Tri-Cities and Illinois Bar Association)

Do you want your husband or wife to become the sole owner, upon your death, of any real estate you own together?

If so, then he or she must deed to the property—such as your house and lot—states that you and your spouse hold it in "joint tenancy."

Under Illinois law, the death of one tenant causes all rights to property held in "joint tenancy" to pass to the surviving tenant. He or she becomes the sole owner of the property, with all the rights to possess or dispose of the property. Children or creditors of the deceased have no claim upon it.

Tenants in Common

On the other hand, if the deed does not expressly state that the real estate is held in "joint tenancy," the owners are then considered to be "tenants in common."

Like joint tenants, tenants in common own the property together, but each tenant owns his interest absolutely and can control what happens to it.

Death of a "tenant in common" was treated as a "joint tenancy" to pass, not to a surviving owner, but to the heirs of the deceased owner according to his or her will.

Screening of Solicitations Will Provide a Helpful Guide

A valuable guide in evaluating the merits of various money-making projects has been developed by the Associated Retailers and the Chamber of Commerce for the benefit of local families, organizations and firms.

Solicitors issued authorization cards by a special Public Solicitation Committee must meet 4-point standards which consider the worthiness of the cause, the way recipients are selected, the proportion of contributions applied to the stated objective, the amount of aid provided locally, and the extent to which financial records are opened to public inspection.

Because decisions of the committee are to be based on objective criteria, those who do not object or seek authorization will not merit donations from local citizens.

Such screening, of course will be ineffective in curbing inefficiency, secrecy or fraud unless citizens make use of it—rejecting all unauthorized monetary requests.

Fight Being Waged in Illinois Against Cruelty to Children

Cruelty to children is such a despicable and pernicious practice that welfare and law enforcement agencies should do everything they can to stamp it out. Even though only 207 downstate and 274 Chicago cases were reported in the first year since it was passed June 30, 1965, the Illinois Child Abuse law may help by spotlighting this problem.

The plain fact is that many parents and others caring for youngsters inflict extreme physical punishment on them, usually to meet some warped inner need of the adult. Rationalizations, claiming that needed discipline is being met, are borne out by the facts; even small infants are beaten, burned, starved, injured and maimed.

Not all such cases are being submitted to the state for legal, medical and child welfare personnel. But with doctors now protected from damage suits in reporting suspected cases, sufficient behavioral data probably can be gathered to point the way to more effective curbs on excessive punishment.

The only way to stay young is to live honestly, eat sensibly, sleep well, work hard, worship regularly and lie about your age.

Modernization, Consolidation of Local-Level Government Proposed

A revolutionary readjustment of the nation's 80,000 units of local government designed to serve local interests more effectively and to balance central power in the federal system, was called for today by the Research and Policy Committee of the Committee for Economic Development.

The number of local governments in the United States should be reduced by at least 80%, the committee said in a statement on national policy, entitled "Modernizing Local Government."

It was made public in Washington by Martin B. Folsom, chairman of CED's Committee for Improvement of Management in Government. It advocates a nine-point reform program aimed at strengthening local units of government from Maine to Hawaii.

The nine major points made by the committee are:

1. Reduce the 80,000 local governments to no more than 16,000.
2. Curtail the overlapping layers of local government now found in most states.

Elect Policy-Makers Only

3. Confine popular election to members of the policy making bodies of government, severely reducing the 500,000 locally elected paid or unpaid officials.
4. But let the voters elect (either elective or appointive) in charge of all administrative agencies and the election of department heads.

5. Replace the "paternalistic" system found in most counties and many other local units with personnel practices based on merit and professional competence.

6. Increase reliance on modernized county governments to solve the problems of rural, urban and most metropolitan communities.

7. Give local governments, when modernized, legal powers to plan, finance and execute programs suited to the needs and desires of their citizens.

8. Revamp the 50 state constitutions to make them more effective, revisions, extensions of legal authority.

The program offered in the CED statement is nationwide in scope and applies to both rural and urban communities. The guidelines presented define the "blueprint for a state of the art" for local government.

Major Struggle Ahead in Securing Air Pollution Laws for Area

By Harry Barnes
of the Press-Record Staff

In 1963 a St. Louis resident filed in court a suit against a neighbor charging that smoke from a shed on the neighbor's property "escaped into and on the premise of plaintiff, rendering his house almost untenable and otherwise injuring same."

The case eventually found its way to the Missouri Supreme Court which ruled that the plaintiff was injured by the defendant's "negligent . . . or willful misuse of his property" and awarded the plaintiff damages of $20.

This was recorded the first anti-smoke and air pollution court action in the area, and probably the first in the United States.

At present a growing populace is waging a fight against the blight of air pollution, attempting to stay a dragon that the people themselves created.

Climax to that effort in the Illinois-Missouri Metropolitan area came recently with public release of a report on the final phase of an Interstate Air Pollution Study that began more than three years ago and cost the federal government and local supporting agencies $750,000.

Basically, the aim of the study, broken down into a series of reports issued in two phases, is to determine the extent and types of air pollution, throughout the area, how they affect the area and what can be done to eliminate them or reduce pollutant concentrations to minimum standards that would make the area a cleaner and better place in which to live.

Completion of the study, involving many thousands of tests and air samplings, meteorological and topographical surveys and even tests for offensive odors, by human sniffers, featured preparation of an "Air Resources Management" program designed to guide air pollution control agencies in corrective measures and remedial action toward elimination or reduction of air pollutants.

This particular report contains at length recommendations for legislation at all government levels and outlines suggested standard ordinances requiring elimination of open burning, regulating size and type of incinerators and determining minimal standards of pollutant volume necessary to accomplish a "clean air" program.

Two-State Problem: Among other things it points out a bi-state compact between Illinois and Missouri and a regional control district for Madison and St. Clair counties will be necessary.

As a result of the study on both sides of the river, it is now known with certainty what contaminants are in the air and in what volume they exist, their sources and the steps necessary to reduce them.

This poses the pertinent question: "What next?"

Cooperation Important

Naturally, the effectiveness of any future air pollution control program based upon recommendations of the study will depend entirely upon the extent of cooperation not only between the major legislative bodies on both sides of the river, but equally as much between the controlling agencies—that eventually are created and those responsible for the sources of pollution.

Because there is no interstate air pollution control agency in the Illinois-Missouri metropolitan area, efforts for passage of recommended regulations, standards and emission limits are expected to be directed at the St. Louis board of aldermen, the St. Louis County council, the Granite City city council, the East St. Louis city council and the separate air pollution control agencies of Illinois and Missouri.

There can be little question that development of a strict, well-rounded pollution control program will be a Herculean task.

Vast Sums at Stake

In the first place, vast sums of money are at stake because air pollution control equipment is expensive and industry will face the prospects of spending millions of dollars to meet the standards and emission limits established in any strict program accompanied by preparation of data obtained in the air pollution study, several delays

In issuance of the air management reports resulted from differences among members of the pollution study executive committee, with proponents of strict standards on the one hand, and industry spokesmen attempting to soften the impact on their clients, on the other.

Held Industrial Hearings: Before releasing its recommendations, however, the committee willingly heard industrial representatives voice their views in the matter.

There were at least five closed meetings with the bituminous coal industry which would be involved extensively through the study's recommendation for banning use of certain types of soft coal, produced particularly in the Illinois fields. Various manufacturers' associations from the Illinois side of the river, as well as the Industrial Waste Council and Associated Industries of St. Louis were heard.

It is the general view that unless industry accepts as satisfactory the standards and emission limits set out in the proposal for air pollution control, efforts to obtain legislation to implement the recommendations will dissolve into a hard-fought and perhaps ineffective struggle.

The economic impact of strict air pollution control measures is not limited to industry alone. The final management program contains proposed regulations that, if enacted, would place certain restrictions on almost everyone right down to the individual householder.

Hand-Fired Heating: Some of the program's recommendations call for outright elimination of hand-fired heating units of every type in a five-year transition program requiring residences to install heating facilities burning fuels other than coal.

It also imposes strict regulations against open burning of any type and urges eventual legislation even against burning of leaves and tree limbs. This restriction is recommended as a "long-range" program because of the problem that would be created for municipalities which would have to arrange for picking up such debris.

The open burning restriction also would necessitate expenditure of vast sums of money for trash and refuse pickups in areas not now controlled, by such legislation.

Open burning now is banned only by East St. Louis, St. Louis city and St. Louis County.

A Financial Problem: This would mean that every community in the area covered by air pollution control regulations would have to set up refuse pickup systems, buy trucks and hire men to pick up trash, refuse and debris of all kinds customarily disposed of by householders.

Source of income to finance such projects would create a critical problem for most communities already beset by fund shortages.

In the event, however, that proponents of the air pollution control program run up against too much difficulty, they have one powerful ally that can enter the picture any time it considers pollution control activities in too much of a snarl.

This is the United Public Health Service of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, operating under the 1963 Federal Clean Air Act.

Provision of Law

The law provides that the Secretary of the Health, Education and Welfare department may intervene whenever, "on the basis of reports, surveys or studies," he has reason to believe that pollution is occurring in one state endangering the health of persons in another state.

Since the federal government paid about two-thirds of the $750,000 spent on the Interstate Air Pollution study, the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare obviously would consider the "reports, surveys or studies" requirement of the law amply met and made to order for a test of the department's enforcement powers, assuming, of course, that local legislative groups failed to act.

Last-Ditch Remedy: Federal procedure to intervene and eventually make definite findings due to absence of local action is a complex matter of long duration. It serves, however, as a last-ditch remedy to accomplish control measures.

First step toward intervention is consultation by the Secretary in closed session with state officials of the two or more states affected.

On three weeks notice the Secretary then may call a conference of municipal, state or interstate control agencies having jurisdiction in the affected area, and after such conference must forward to the attending agencies a summary of conference findings bearing on the occurrence of pollution; adequacy of measures taken to abate it and the nature of delays, if any, in ending or reducing the pollution.

In event the Secretary believes that insufficient action is being taken to abate the pollution, he must recommend to the various agencies the necessary remedial action. The agencies then have six months in which to carry out the recommended abatement procedure.

If insufficient abatement methods have been taken at the end of this period, the Secretary then may call a hearing to be conducted before a board of five or more members appointed by the Secretary.

Each affected state has the right to nominate one member and each federal department or other agency having substantial interest in the issue has the right to nominate a member.

One of these must be a representative of the appropriate interstate air pollution agency if one exists. None exists at present for the Illinois-Missouri metropolitan area. The Health, Education and Welfare department must be represented by a majority of the board.

Another Three Weeks: At least three weeks notice must be given the non-federal members of the board and the alleged polluter or polluters. If the hearing board finds that pollution is occurring and that effective progress is not being made in its abatement, it must recommend to the Secretary reasonable and suitable measures to halt the pollution.

These findings must then be sent by the Secretary to the polluter, the air pollution control agencies and all municipalities where the pollution originates, and the interstate agency if one exists, together with a notice specifying a reasonable time of not less than six months to "secure abatement of such pollution."

In the event the recommended action is not taken, the Secretary then is authorized to ask the attorney general to bring suit in the name of the United States.

One Year and Six Weeks: On the basis of this legal procedure, the culmination of an action taken by the Health, Education and Welfare Department requires a minimum of one year and six weeks from the time the Secretary initiates the action.

Even then, the U. S. District Court that hears the case is, to some degree, circumscribed by terms of the act which states that the court, after consideration of the "practicability of complying with such standards as may be applicable and to the physical and economic feasibility of securing abatement of any pollution proved" shall enter such judgment and decree as the court deems just and equitable of the case may require.

As proponents of air pollution control ready themselves for the exhaustive task ahead, one thing appears certain. A provision is needed to reduce or eliminate assessments for tax purposes on the new capital equipment installed by industry on a large scale to reduce pollution.

This is especially true where there is no recoverable product with salable value, it has been noted.

Mitchell Fire District Reports on Finances

The Mitchell Fire Protection District received $20,867 income during the fiscal year of May 1, 1965, to April 30, 1966, and invested half of it in new equipment, according to a financial report issued this week. Equipment purchased included a new truck and hose.

Most of the income represented taxes received from township and county tax collectors, according to the report. Revenue included a $5000 deposit for new equipment, $4679 from the county collector representing taxes from Chouteau township, $856 from the county collector in taxes from Edwardsville township, $3086 in taxes from the township collector of Edwardsville township, and $7915 in taxes from the Chouteau township tax collector.

Expenditure for new equipment during the year amounted to $10,252; the report states. Other major expenditures for the year included $1760 for rent, $1336 for expense of fire calls, $1100 for expense of fire calls, $1100 for $1008 for insurance, and $1700 for fireproof installation.

Routine expenses included telephone, $544; legal fees, $375; death assessments, $294; gasoline and oil, $146; parts and repairs, $653; firemen and trustees dues, $52; supplies, $89; and truck and license inspection, $8.

Benedictine Priest Observes 25th Jubilee

Rev. Adalbert Buscher, a Benedictine priest and a former Granite City resident, observed his silver jubilee as a Catholic priest this week at Litchfield where six priests participated in a con-celebrated Mass.

Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Buscher of Oak Park, Mr. and Mrs. James Buscher and family of Davenport, Iowa, and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Buscher and family of Cicero, all former Granite Cityans. They visited friends here Monday, and the James Buscher family remained for a week's vacation as guests at the home of Mrs. Helen DeRuntz, 2145 Grand avenue.

Woman Files Two Charges

Warrants charging assault and criminal trespass to property at 2032 Hildebrand street, Cloverleaf, were filed Monday evening against Martin Craig, Collinsville, b. yhis mother-in-law, Mrs. Bertha Ballentine, following an argument early Monday, the county sheriff's office reported. Mrs. Ballentine lives at the Hildebrand address.

Driver Fined $220

Jasper R. Hopkins, 62, of East St. Louis, was fined $200 plus $5 costs for driving without a license and $20 and costs for failure to yield right-of-way with a control present in magistrate's court Monday. The charges were filed June 24 by Granite City police.

Ebrecht Selected for State DeMolay Contest

William Ebrecht, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Ebrecht, 2629 East 77th street, was one of six contestants chosen to represent the Southern Illinois DeMolay Association in "flower talk" competition at the state convocation to be held at Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, in August.

He was selected during a jurisdictional meeting of DeMolay chapters from Southern Illinois this week at Collinsville, where the Axtell chapter was host. Sixteen members competed, including Charles Ringering of the Granite City chapter.

Ebrecht will return to the University of Tulsa, Okla., this fall where he will be a sophomore. He has a full scholarship and majors in music. He plays the base violin with the Tulsa Philharmonic Orchestra.

During the jurisdictional meeting a devotional service preceded a noon barbecued chicken dinner which was followed with musical entertainment, a workshop for members and advisors and a business meeting chaired by Stan Meister of Alton, master councilor of the association.

Plans were made for the state softball tourney in August at Bloomington.

The local chapter was represented by Roger Mathews, master councilor; Reggie Teague, senior counselor; James Naevie, scribe; and Jim Ebrecht, Randy Fowler, Charles Hileman, Eric Johnson, Tim Noud, Dwayne Pritchett, Charles Ringering and Joe Vaughn. Robert Maxwell, Charles Meyer and Dr. Anna Rode accompanied the group.

The first of a series of statewide safety programs on the use of motorbikes will be held Saturday in Springfield, Ray Page, state superintendent of public instruction, announced.

Page expressed concern for the mounting number of injuries to youths due to motorbike accidents.

The program will include live demonstrations on the right and wrong way to operate motorbikes, films and lectures as well as the distribution of safety literature. Those taking part in the course will receive a certificate of completion.

Noting that there are nearly 800 bikes and motorbikes in the campus of Southern Illinois University alone, Page urged "use of this form of transportation with the same degree of responsibility and safety demanded of the operator of any motor vehicle."

State Arts Council Holds First Area Meeting

The Illinois Arts Council, established by state legislation in June 1965, held its first annual survey meeting in Granite City on Tuesday morning at the public library.

Leading the council delegation from its Chicago office were Birag D. Boyer, study director, and S. Leonard Pass Jr., executive director. Gene Aiasi, supervisor of the Granite City school district, represented the local Chamber of Commerce.

"With the entire metropolitan area on this side of the river representing the second-most heavily populated area in the state next to Chicago, more indigenous activities for the enjoyment of the people should be undertaken," the study director stated.

The district has very good potential to develop the performing arts culture here, but has not yet developed the necessary program planning," he added.

The meeting, with county and community leaders, inquired about the efforts of organizations and individuals in bringing the arts—speech, drama, music, art—to school and university programs in the area. A report was made on the progress and facilities which concerned these two aspects of education.

Chiefly interested in the physical facilities that can be used for performances and exhibitions, Boyer mentioned that a Chicago Symphony concert would be a good example of the music that could be brought to this area.

Illinois Arts Council representatives will meet several more times this year with Quad-City individuals to further process plans for the performing arts.

Marine-Vigil Alford Receives Combat Training
Pvt. Vigil Alford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otha Alford, 219 Terry street, Madison, has completed a 15-day training and processing cycle with Staging Battalion at the Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

This refresher course for combat infantrymen stressed the principles of small unit tactics, with particular emphasis on the fundamental maneuvers of patrolling, and land navigation.

Dale Rea to Attend NDEA Institute
Dale Rea, principal of Emerson school, is leaving with his family today for the National Defense Education Act Institute, for a six-week advanced study program of Educational needs of Indiana State University, Terre Haute, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Rea, along with their three children, Gretchen, 14, Derek, 12, and Christopher, 9, will arrive in Terre Haute this afternoon, and then board a chartered bus Friday to Washington, D. C., and the National Audio-Visual Association Convention.

Thirty-six delegates, mainly from nine midwest state elementary and junior high schools, will be represented at the conference. After three days in the nation's capital, they will travel to Hagerstown, Md. where they will learn the programming operations of educational television. This seminar is to be sponsored by the Naval Photo-Mapping Center.

After a week's sojourn on the Atlantic coast, the group will return to Terre Haute. There programs have been set up on an individual basis to help the needs of each school district represented.

"Our last five weeks at Terre Haute will actually be a working proposition," said Rea. "I've already sent in an inventory budget to Indiana State so that we'll be able to make the proper slides, filmstrips, and program equipment materials which we think will help aid our local school facilities."

A series of scheduled events, including a picnic trip to Turkey Run State Park and a daytime program for wives, will add to the cultural and recreational programs at the University during this summer venture.

Cleaning Ventilators

Kitchen ventilators usually need cleaning at least once every two or three months depending on course on how often you use them. It's time to clean the unit when it appears greasy or dirty. Cleaning methods vary with the model, so it's especially important to check the manufacturer's instructions before launching your cleaning spree.

Self-Defrosting Refrigerators Not Self-Cleaning

Frost-free and automatic defrosting refrigerators require minimum care. But the fact that they are self-defrosting does not mean that they are self-cleaning.

Clean up spilled foods and liquids immediately to prevent them from leaving their mark and to keep food odors from developing.

Clean the entire refrigerator periodically. An occasional wash-down with a solution of baking soda and warm water (two tablespoons to a quart of water) followed by a clear rinse and dry-off helps to keep inside walls and door linings clean and sweet-smelling.

Remember to check the frost-collecting pan. Because volatile food odors pass off in the defrosting process, this pan needs periodic washing to keep it clean and odor-free. Consult your instruction booklet for the location of this pan.

Wash the new refrigerator exteriors like older models—with mild acids and water; then rinse and wipe dry.

Do not use harsh soaps or scouring powders on either exterior or interior surfaces.

Refer to the manufacturer's use-and-care booklet for complete cleaning instructions.

The following foods will be in plentiful supply during the month of July:

Plums, peaches, watermelons, broiler-fryers and seasonal vegetables.

Fifty percent of the American people have never been further than 200 miles from home. More than 50% have never been to a hotel and 80% have never flown.

Most American adults consumed from one-fourth to one-half their weight in food fats and oils last year. This is better than 47 pounds per person with the largest increase in consumption of cooking and salad oils.

If your green salads have a monotonous sameness, introduce new flavor accents. Try different salad greens, such as chicory, escarole, endive, kale, romaine, watercress and Chinese cabbage. You may find a new favorite among them.

Corn Contributes to Summer Play

The corn you see stretching acre after acre along the countryside contributes to your summer play activities—more than you have perhaps realized.

Cornstarch is used in paper plates for picnics, insecticides for camping trips and film for snapshots.

shots. Cornstarch is also used in the manufacture of aluminum—aluminum canoes, sailboat masts, outboard engines and porch chairs.

Products from corn are also used in scores of ways in the cars we drive to sandy beaches. Too, corn dextrin helps to process the leather in golf bags and sandals and is used as a binder in charcoal briquettes. Cosmetic products, such as the lotions for preventing sunburn, frequently contain cornstarch. And starch is used in making light cotton or rayon clothing, as well as in comfortable hammocks.

Try to imagine summer without ice cream, pie, candy, chewing gum, marshmallows, peanut butter, salad dressings, hot dogs, catsup and cookies. Such foods, along with several hundred others, usually contain corn syrup or dextrose or oil or starch—and sometimes all four. Corn also helps to produce the poultry, meat, milk and eggs we need to give us strength for playing, because corn is a major feed of beef, pigs, cows, chickens and sheep.

Hawaiian leis were given the girls as favors.

A stewardship program entitled "Be Thou Faithful" was presented, and the meeting ended with games and prizes for all.

Those attending were Kimberly Worster, Susan Wyatt, Darla Smalley, Mrs. Alicia Hendrickson, mother of the hostess, and Mrs. Juanita Kozikowski, counselor, and children, David and Lisa.

Sr. Philomena Studies Personnel Management

Sister Mary Philomena, administrative resident at St. Elizabeth Hospital for the summer, has been recently working with Keith Pryor, management engineer at the hospital, and Joseph Movshin, management consultant. Together the three are using various techniques in work analysis and measurement to assist in the organizational structure of the hospital.

At present a study is being made concerning the amount of man-hours per patient days in each department.

Movshin, an instructor at Washington University in St. Louis, is administrative director, and Pryor is hospital personnel director, as they meet various department heads to determine problems of staffing and to gather statistical data for a more complete survey.

Sister Philomena attends these sessions so that she might become more acquainted with this aspect of personnel management.

While staffing of personnel throughout the hospital proves to be a complex problem in need of continual study and evaluation, it is only one of many projects being covered by Pryor and Movshin.

Other programs involve management work with the emergency room, sewing room and laundry, poison control center, and the out-patient department.

Many Plants Growing In Yards Are Poisonous

Every year over 12,000 children in the United States are poisoned from eating deadly plants.

Actually, the number of victims who suffer serious illness and even death from poisonous plants could be much higher.

For among the 250,000 plant species that can be deadly to man, the average housewife has eight or nine of them right in her own backyard.

Who would suspect, for example, that the beautiful oleander evergreen shrub—grown indoors as well as outdoors—contains a deadly heart poison—a toxin so deadly that a single leaf could kill a child.

Any part of the lily-of-the-valley and the rhododendron can kill, too. So can the leaves and roots of ivy.

Plants with Berries
The greatest threat to children, however, is poisonous berries with small attractive berries.

One of the most deadly—the nightshade bush—contains clusters of poisonous berries that grow abundantly in vacant lots and frequently in backyards.

Another berry bush found in backyards is the dogwood measure. In the spring, this plant has white or purple flowers that are soon replaced by small red or yellow berries. It only takes a few of these berries, which contain an extremely corrosive poison, to cause a fatal reaction in a child.

Little-Known Hazards
Of course, plant poisoning isn't restricted to children. Adults encounter it, too, especially from plants that, for the most part, are good to eat.

Take rhubarb, for example. While its stalk is not toxic, its leaves contain oxalic acid which—if cooked with the stalk—may cause severe kidney damage.

Two of our most popular vegetable plants, the potato and tomato, are also potentially harmful. Although the tomato fruit and the potato tuber are quite harmless, the foliage and vines of both these plants contain alkaloid poison, a poison which could cause severe digestive upset and serious nervous disorders.

Safety Rules
Safeguard your family from these and other potentially dangerous plants.

The next time you prepare foods picked from the garden, wash them thoroughly and remove all leaves and foliage carefully before cooking.

Above all: warn your children, again and again, never to chew or taste any part of a plant found in the woods, your backyard or even in your home.

Many plants found in the living room, such as the traditional yucca plant, are deadly, too.

UF Board Will Meet On Agency Allocations

The third quarterly meeting of the Tri-Cities Area United Fund Board of directors has been called for 4:30 p.m. Monday at the YMCA by the president, Joseph Gilt, to determine allocations for United Fund agencies in the forthcoming 1967 fund campaign.

Members of the Admissions and Distributions committee, headed by George Becker, have completed their work, and the tentative campaign goal is $368,000.

Last year's goal of $368,500 for which $350,988 was pledged—was $17,500 lower than the now campaign figure.

UF board members also are expected to consider a proposal for the Tri-Cities Area United Fund to join a consolidated grouping for one concerted fund effort in metropolitan Illinois area communities.

The Granite City Rotary Club will host the largest horse show ever to be held in southern Illinois next month, when it shows off the finest horses in this area at the Tri-City Speedway on Aug. 28.

Edward Meng, publicity chairman for the club, said that over half of the $6000 needed to secure an electronic amphitheater for the Quad-City Community has already been collected through fund-raising aids and ticket sales for the project.

With the Rotary's aid sponsoring the acquisition of the EEG machine, St. Elizabeth Hospital will be able to determine head and brain injuries and diseases without having to transfer patients to out-of-town hospitals.

Both the horse show and brain wave machine combine together to form the biggest project that the Rotary Club has undertaken in over 10 years.

Other projects financially backed by the Rotary organization include an organ for the community high school, two police dogs for the city police department, a scholarship fund to the senior high school, furniture for the Mental Health Clinic, chapel for the fire department, a furnished kitchen at the YMCA, station wagon and inhalator for the fire department, and a new road into camp for the Girl Scouts among others totaling over $25,000.

Meng has researched background material concerning the origin of the horse which he is providing to Quad-Cityans.

This summer's show, the sixth presentation, will feature animals which combine strength, speed and beauty with intelligence and a friendly, willing temperament. Because of these qualities, the horse has been man's most constant companion in work and leisure since the Eocene period in North America millions of years ago, Meng pointed out.

"During the Miocene, Pliocene and Pleistocene periods, the horse developed three to five

The modern horse, traced back through these sections of time, has walked on single hoofs and has shown a similar present-day structure as far back as this type of history can trace him, and that goes back into the prehistoric age of man.

Parent Stock Extinct—It can be assumed that once an animal leaves its natural state for the unnatural state of association with man, then the parent stock (the wild stock) becomes extinct.

There are plenty of wild members of the genus Equus in existence today: zebras, asses, and even one breed of wild horse. But the animal or animals from which the modern domestic horse spring are extinct. No one can pinpoint with certainty the parent stock of the modern horse.

Every great horse-breeding country in the world has what may be described as its native breeds, which, though they may contain Arab or Thoroughbred blood, are yet, because of their effect of climatic conditions, quite distinct in type.

For example, there are no native horses in the Americas, in Australia or in South Africa. The horses in these countries have all been introduced by man—to the Americas in the 16th century, to Australia and South Africa at a much later date—and, in origin, are as mongrel as could be, having been developed from many breeds. But, in each case, climate and natural surroundings have exercised influence and distinct breeds have developed.

Two Granite Cityans To Be State Troopers

Two Granite City residents, Lawrence Stalduhar, of 2721 Maryville road, and William Simpson, Rural Route One, will graduate tomorrow from the Illinois State Police Academy in Springfield.

They are cadets from a class of 26 men who enrolled at the academy for the training program on March 27 of this year. The new cadet officers received training in weapons, roadblocks and vehicle occupant control, traffic control, physical prowess, crime scene investigation, crowd control, and accident investigation.

Stalduhar, 23, was graduated from Granite City high school, and was a member of the U. S. Marine Corps for three years immediately following his graduation there. He was formerly employed by McDonnell Aircraft and the American Steel Foundries. His wife lives at the Maryville road residence.

Traffic Ticket Issued

Carmen C. Bridden, 38, of South Roxana, was arrested Monday afternoon at Fourth street and Broadway in Venice on a charge of improper lane usage. A hearing was set for July 27 in his safe operating condition, Powell said.

Powell Asks For Compulsory Auto Inspection Bill

Secretary of State Paul Powell said Monday he would ask that state inspectors in a compulsory motor vehicle inspection program be placed under the personnel code.

The request depends upon the 1967 session of the General Assembly and if action is taken to enact an inspection program similar to those in 24 states, and also on whether administration of the program is assigned to Powell's office.

"The responsibilities that state inspectors will have in a safety inspection program for motor vehicles are so great that it is absolutely necessary that they be thoroughly trained before starting their duties," Powell stated. He added that he is convinced a safety inspection program will save lives on the highway, "but it must be supervised by professionally trained experts, career employees who will make sure that the cars are being properly inspected."

So far, the results of the voluntary safety-check program being conducted this summer with specially designed equipment in 35 Illinois communities show that about 45% of the cars checked have been found to have one or more defects which impair their safe operating condition, Powell said.

Canal Freight Headed Toward New Record

Volume of freight tonnage passing through the Chain of Rocks canal appears headed for another all-time record in 1966 as total shipments for the first half of the current year reached 18,853,680 tons.

Freight movements up and down river during June totaled 3,700,640 tons, the second highest shipments for any single month of the year thus far. June tonnage was exceeded this year only in May, when total freight going through the canal amounted to 3,877,066 tons—an all-time record monthly high.

The June shipments increased this year's total to the 18,853,680-ton mark, or 2,903,178 tons more than the total for the first six months of last year. Total tonnage passing through locks 27 for the first half of last year was 15,890,902 tons.

The total tonnage for all of 1965 exceeded the total tonnage of 1964 by approximately 3 million tons. The increase over the first six months of last year for the same period this year almost reaches that figure. Army Engineers at St. Louis, who administer canal operations, noted that if current usage of the locks continues throughout the second half of this year at the same rate, the canal locks will hit "an exceptionally high record year."

Thus far in the current year, a total of 26,250 vessels of all types have passed through the locks, compared to 25,041 in the same period last year. A total of 432 lockages have been made far this year, compared to 406 at the same time in 1965. Vessels using the locks since Jan. 1 include 4517 towboats, nine passenger boats, 20,791 barges, 682 private recreational boats, 27 government towboats, 144 U.S. barges, 17 smallcraft, one construction boat and 59 patrol boats. June freight traffic included 1,799,580 tons moving upriver and 1,901,060 tons moving downriver. Heading the list was movement of grain, shipments of which included 13,700 tons going upriver and 1,492,500 tons going downriver. Movement of petroleum products ranked second, 474,880 tons going up and 279,800 tons downriver.

Other shipments were: coal, 682,200 tons up, none down; cement, sand and gravel, 2600 tons up, none down; sulphur, 34,000 tons up, none down; miscellaneous commodities, 365,520 tons up and 67,880 down; iron and steel products, 24,400 tons up and 96,380 tons down; chemicals, 19,250 tons up and 27,000 tons down.

A total of 811 towboats passed through the locks in June, pulling 4061 barges. Other craft using the locks during last month were two passenger boats, 386 recreational boats, 14 government towboats, 51 U. S. barges, three small craft and 14 patrol boats. A total of 960 lockages was made during the month.
